

Complex Needs Support Worker
Recruitment Pack 2018

Housing for Women

March 2018

Dear Applicant,

Complex Needs Support Worker

Housing for Women is a very special organisation; we are independent, with significant property assets. We pride ourselves in finding solutions to difficult problems and are known to 'punch above our weight'. We believe that being small is no barrier to success and our track record of supporting women in London and challenging the inequalities they face, dating back over 80 years, evidences this.

Housing for Women has grown significantly in recent years – we currently own and manage 923 homes, delivering domestic violence and abuse (DVA) services in additional boroughs, and undertaking a successful fundraising campaign which has generated over £1m over the past two years. This growth is set to continue as we have ambitious plans to leverage value from our existing property portfolio to provide homes for the future, as well as winning tenders for commissioned services in DVA and other violence against women and girls support services.

There are always new challenges and opportunities arising from changing demand and government policy. This is especially true in the current economic climate, where the impact of changes disproportionately affects women. It is also the case that the need for affordable high quality housing, and efficient and effective gender-sensitive services, is greater than ever.

I do hope that you are enthused by learning what we have achieved at Housing for Women and that you would like to help us fulfil our future ambitions.

We look forward to receiving your application.

Yours sincerely

Zaiba Qureshi
Chief Executive

About Housing for Women

These questions and answers try to anticipate what you might want to know before you apply. Our website is a good place to get an overview of what we do and how we do it: <http://www.hfw.org.uk>

What is Housing for Women and who do we house?

Housing for Women is an independent organisation that supports women in London to challenge the inequalities they face. As a charity and a registered housing association, we are proud to have housed London's women for 80 years; providing secure, affordable housing and related services to help them make the most of the opportunities they have.

Housing for Women currently operates in 10 boroughs. The map above shows the number of properties (by unit in brackets) by borough.

Our portfolio is diverse with different stock-types and is a mixture of freehold and leasehold. All our stock meets the Government's Decent Homes Standard and the stock condition data informs a strategic approach to procurement to generate a 10 year asset management plan that includes planned and cyclical programmes.

General Needs provision

The majority of our accommodation is provided to women and their families nominated by the local authorities where we operate. The Association only gives tenancies to women and we provide a range of general needs housing options. Our housing management and maintenance teams are trained in the particular needs of our client group to provide gender sensitive services.

25% of our tenancies are held by women aged over 60. Our Older Tenant's Officer provides a range of advice and support for our older residents from arranging for adaptations to help keep women in their homes to facilitating move-on to specialist older persons housing when required.

We have developed 8 social rented units in a pioneering mixed tenure older women's co-housing community.

Specialist Services provision

About 9% of our housing stock is used to house women facing specific challenges and the support we provide to them is funded either by local authorities or by grants from charitable trusts/foundations. This supported housing includes specialist refuge type accommodation and ordinary flats or houses which we either own or lease. Increasingly, we offer floating support services to women in accommodation provided by other landlords.

We deliver a range of accommodation and community based support services:

-  Domestic violence and abuse damages and disrupts the lives of thousands of women and their children. We provide crisis support and refuge for women and their children in several sites across South and West London. Our refuges provide safe accommodation for approx. 60 women and 90 children each year and support to a further 50 women in the community who choose to stay in their homes. We offer specialist provision for Asian women and those with complex needs.
-  RePlace is one of a handful of projects in London offering second stage housing and support for women who have been trafficked for sexual exploitation or domestic servitude. These women are some of the estimated 3,000 women trafficked for prostitution in the UK at any one time.
-  ReUnite London is a project where we work with female ex-offenders who would otherwise be homeless and lose custody of their children on release from prison. The project offers a programme of tailored support to tackle the problems they face in order to break the cycle of reoffending.
-  ReConnect is a project working with women with complex needs on their release from prison. The project offers a programme of support and group activities to empower women to live independently.
-  ReVive is a community based project providing support to those women who identify as LGBTQi and are escaping domestic violence.

Working at Housing for Women

With around 90 staff and volunteers, we are not a large organisation so every single member of staff is vital if we are to deliver on our vision and values. This requires a high degree of commitment from our people and a passion for what we do. Below, some of our team share their stories of their time with the Housing for Women.

"I am always proud to say where I work as the name, Housing for Women, says exactly what we do and it always gets a positive reaction. I have worked here for a long time because I believe in the values we promote and that is to give women in London safe and secure homes so that they can build great lives for their families."

"Housing for Women is a dynamic and fun office to work in where you can see first-hand the work that is carried out to support vulnerable women and their children in London. All of the teams work closely together and it is great to gain knowledge of how other areas of the organisation work.”

“Being a woman working for an organisation that has morals that I understand, that is passionate about improving the lives and environment of its residents, and with close regard for its staff is where I want to be.”

“We all work together as one big team, sharing ideas and listening to each other, and all working to the same goals.”

Our offices are based in the heart of Brixton, with its lively shopping hub and foodie reputation, 5 mins walk from the tube.
